

Why should I pay a monthly fee for software ?

- Because you have better things to do.

Your customers don't pay you for being a good computer technician. You make your living by being a good merchant, turning inventory and managing your company efficiently. Whether you are a retailer or distributor, your time is more productive and profitable spent running your business.

Business Manager removes all computer related burdens from your daily tasks and frees you to allocate more time and resources to your core business.

- Because you are tired of being bounced around for service.

Just imagine the pure joy of not ever having to witness a collection of computer technicians trying to solve your system related problems. One blames the other. The network installer points the finger at the hardware vendor. Hardware vendor blames the application provider and the application provider blames the operating system. The only victim in the middle is you, with a problem no one takes responsibility for nor can resolve.

With Business Manager you can say goodbye to technicians and computer related nightmares. You no longer have to maintain costly computer and network equipment and software just to be able to use your application. Your application is provided for you as a service eliminating all existing expensive and hard to maintain equipment and software.

- Because you plan to take your business forward instead of backwards.

In the old economy, your computer system was restricted within the confines of your office. Today's new economy places new demands on your computer system. It must extend its reach beyond your company walls and communicate information with your employees, clients and suppliers no matter where they are.

Business Manager delivers inventory and sales information to store managers directly in their homes, automates both on-land as well as on-line stores, pushes crucial business information to your Palm or cell phone and provides valuable service for your customers and communicates inventory and replenishment information with your suppliers. All the features the new e-economy has to offer in one easy to use package for a low monthly fee.

- Because you are in business to save and make money.

Your automation system should not be an expense. It must be a valuable tool that helps propel your business forward everyday. Business Manager drastically reduces the Total Cost of Ownership (TCO) by eliminating all hardware, network, installation and on-site support expenses related to your computer system. Your system is your best ally and tool in business and is instrumental in helping you meet your business goals.

Business Manager provides you with the best in software, service and support for a low monthly fee. With Business Manager you never have to pay thousands of dollars for a copy of a software on a CD that involves high installation fees, expensive network and server equipment, high maintenance costs, frequent upgrades and bug fixes; which will be obsolete in a few years. Business Manager eliminates the extra fat and provides you with a powerful and functional software ready for use at a fraction of the cost.
